HCL Digital Experience:

Power your digital transformation journey

HCL DX

Empower users by delivering the right experience when it matters most. Blend content, data, systems, and processes using a single digital experience platform, creating complete experiences for citizens, employees, and partners.

With the HCL Digital Experience (DX) platform agencies can create richer experiences, digitize business processes, and reduce time to market. HCLSoftware digital transformation solutions bring together toolsets that help address customer experience mandates and improve how internal resources build, engage, and execute mission critical initiatives.

Our multiexperience DXP provides a complete secure toolset to build and manage all digital experiences. Organizations can build a singular self-service experience consistent across all digital touchpoints at a fraction of the cost and time. Deliver efficiencies across development, content, and IT teams, empowering them to create the experiences your users expect.

Features & Benefits of HCL DX 9.5 Cloud-Native

Management and orchestration

Feature	Benefit
HCL DX now includes HCL Volt Foundry - offering more than 200 connectors to critical backend systems and cloud APIs.	Leverage core components and vertical-specific features to deliver a complete self-service experience more quickly.

Create better content faster

Feature	Benefit
AI assistance is now available to content authors to help author, tag, and ensure the right sentiment across all their efforts.	Accelerate content creation, enhance accuracy, and simplify discovery via tagging. Help ensure content resonates with customers by striking the right tone.

Deployment freedom

Feature	Benefit
You can choose to deploy our Kubernetes-based DXP in your data center or public cloud providers (Amazon, Google, Microsoft, etc.).	Flexible deployment options let you focus on your business and its unique needs.

Employees need more than just an intranet

Feature	Benefit
Use the power of a DXP to build a unified employee experience to unify corporate communications, team collaboration, and deliver access to core applications.	Increase employee productivity and engagement to boost your organization's bottom line and retain top talent longer

Bring your own micro frontend

Feature	Benefit
Leverage modern web frameworks, such as React, Vue, and Next.js, to rapidly build out UI components that snap together into a sleek user experience.	Leverage the power of DX's content creation and management while harnessing the efficiency of popular frameworks to create experiences using the front end of your choice

Your content anywhere, everywhere

Feature	Benefit
Leverage DX's hybrid headless content approach, where DX is a central repository for content and digital assets. Content and assets can be accessed within DX directly or externally via API or our new embedded Content Picker.	Reduce the time and complexity of managing multiple CMSs to deliver a consistent message across all user touchpoints.

Enhanced pricing & packaging

Feature	Benefit
New consumption-based pricing that promotes modern architectures that auto-scale and self-health.	Leverage proven and predictable methods for scaling your needs to meet planned or unplanned demand, plus simple, transparent, predictable consumption-based licensing according to user sessions.

Our solution offers services that provide easy-to-access, integrated and market leading DX and collaboration capabilities all delivered through a cloud-native platform of choice. The solution is a cost-effective, collaborative, digital experience platform built upon HCLSoftware expertise in delivering security-rich services that can help your organization become a modern, digital business. It can help reduce IT costs and complexity, facilitate increased productivity in modern teamwork while digitizing interactions to capture and retain organizational knowledge.
